Are open at all trade.

SHALON PAINT is only one of our specialties. It is made of the most permanent materials which are combined by scientific methods and ground by modern machinery in pure Linseed Oil. It will take one gallon of Linseed Oil to thin each gallon of paint, but in order to obtain the maximum wear, the Linseed Oil used for thinning purposes SHOULD BE STRICTLY PURE. If our directions in this particular are followed and the paint is applied to thoroughly dry and well-seasoned lumber, we will guarantee it to be absolutely satisfactory. In addition to Shalon paint, we manufacture M. B. LIQUID PAINT in 45 colors. This paint is made for special trade and represents the highest paint value. We also manufacture M. B. FLAT PAINT, for exterior use; M. B. FLOOR & DECK PAINT, for porch-floors and decks of vessels; ELASTIC MIXED PAINT, for roofs of buildings, barns and all metal surfaces; ENGLISH WHITE LEAD; FRENCH ZINC; and a general line of MARINE PAINTS.

We distribute PRATT & LAMBERT'S VARNISHES, PURE LINSEED OIL, PURE TURPENTINE, WHITINGS BRUSHES.

"NO BATTLESHIPS" DEMOCRATS BEATEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—Acknowledging defeat, the no-battleship Democrats of the House have consented to another caucus, which will be held at 3 o'clock next Tuesday night. The friends of the navy will make a fight in the caucus to release all Democrats from any pledge to vote one way or the other on this important question, believing that if this is done there will be an easy majority for two new battleships. The no-battleship men will try to have adopted a resolution binding all present to vote for one ship as a compromise.
The strong Tammany resolution favoring two battleships has had its effect among the New York Democrats in the House. They are now practically a unit for two battleships. Representative John J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriations committee, who made a speech against battleships in the last caucus, returned to Washington yesterday from New York.
He said he did not care to give an interview, but that he would not make any more speeches against battleships.
It had been proposed to call up the naval appropriation bill in the House yesterday, but a fight developed over the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill and lasted until such a late hour that the naval bill was allowed to go over. It is likely that Representative Lemuel P. Padgett, of Tennessee, chairman of the House Naval Committee, will call that measure up today and officially report the fact that the House and Senate conferees have been unable to agree on the battleship question.

The House will then probably send the conferees back with instructions to make another formal stand against the two-battleship amendment of the Senate.

The understanding will be that the Democratic caucus will be held before the conferees make another report and that the Senate will not yield in the meantime.

Caucus to Release Pledges.
The scheme to hold another caucus and settle the matter there either by a complete victory for the two-battleship men or by a compromise on one battleship will prevent a lot of trouble for the thirty Democrats who have pledged themselves to vote for two battleships. No man likes to be called a "bolter," and these men, through their patriotism and belief in an adequate navy, would lay themselves open to that charge unless the caucus releases them.

Among the hundreds of letters received by Representative Sulzer, commending the campaign for two battleships, there came one yesterday from Mrs. Lillian Pike Roome, of 1419 Cliff Street, this city, a daughter of the late General Albert Pike. Mrs.
Roome said that her father was a firm believer in the Monroe doctrine and in the necessity for an efficient army and a powerful navy.
"It seems to be the opinion that this is a matter of deep concern only to those living near the exposed coast on the coast," said Mrs. Roome in her reply for a large naval program.
"These would be the interests of a lamentable error this is, for while an invading force might not ever reach the interior of the country, devastation would seriously affect all the other States.

Danger to the Nation.
"Can anyone doubt that the destruction of New York city would be an almost irretrievable disaster to every other section of the country, so far-reaching would be its effects? So many and varied are the interests, financial, political and social, which would be affected by any fluctuations of this great banking center that there is no spot, however insignificant or remote, that would not have some share in the injury would be a similar disturbance, though in a lesser degree, if any other city were devastated, and notably the Capital.
"Be sure that any hostile power would undoubtedly make an effort, and very likely a successful one, in case of war, to loot our treasury and carry away the national moneys. We trust you hoarded in its vaults. I think it would be much better to expend some of our money in building battleships, ships or munitions of war, or other provisions for defense, or for public buildings or waterways or pensions or monuments; or any project that would benefit the people, and put enough money in circulation, rather than to keep on blinding it up year after year to be a temptation for poorer nations."

M. F. O'Donoghue, of Washington, pledges Mr. Sulzer the Irish support in his attitude. "The Irish are behind you to a man," he wrote.

HIGHWAYMAN ROBS A PLYMOUTH MERCHANT
WILKES-BARRE, PA., Special.— Joseph Austin, a merchant of Plymouth, was held up in broad daylight today and robbed of $600 in cash, which he had received but a few moments before from a coal company office.

The highwayman received several orders from miners for their pay. He went to the pay office and got the money.
While he was returning he was stopped in the central part of the town and saw a revolver leveled at his head by an unmasked man.

He was told to turn over his money and he did. The highwayman pocketed the roll of bills and fled in the direction of the woods.

DECLINES TO ANSWER
MEDILL MCCORMICK

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—Mcdill McCormick, one of the backers of the "Bull Moose" party, today questioned Republican members of the Illinois delegation as to their attitude toward Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy.

The warmest reply sent to McCormick was from Representative Rod-denberg, who telegraphed this message:
"Medill McCormick: I regard your inquiry as impertinent, and I absolutely deny your right to interrogate any Republican candidate as to his attitude.

EXPLOSION INJURES ONE MAN SERIOUSLY

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Special. Any explosion which caused damage at the Frankfort Arsenal, Bridgeport, today injured one man seriously and drove 1,900 employees in panic from their tasks.

The explosion occurred at a test table in the building occupied by the fuse department. It shattered windows and tore off part of a roof.
Fire broke out following the explosion in the direction of Colonel George Montgomery the arsenal fire brigade soon extinguished the flames.
The men and girls employed in the various departments met the frantic rush for safety when they heard the explosion and dodging flying glass, bricks and fragments of the roof, all escaped, except one, who sustained numerous cuts and burns.

SELECT TREASURER IN WILSON CAMPAIGN

SUBJECT TO WOODROW WILSON'S APPROVAL NEW YORK REAL ESTATE MAN LIKELY.

NEW YORK, Special.—The selection of a treasurer of the Democratic national campaign committee has been put squarely up to Chairman William F. McCombs, who will name the man, subject to the approval of the party's standard-bearer, Woodrow Wilson.

This statement was made at the committee's headquarters this afternoon by Committee Chairman Joseph Daniels, of North Carolina.
Mr. Daniels said Chairman Mc-Combs had not passed upon any man for the place yet, but he understood that Henry Morgenthau, a wealthy real estate dealer of this city, was being favorably considered.

The campaign committee today issued a reply to the address to Americans of foreign birth recently sent out by the Republican national campaign committee.

Low Crop Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Special.—A report was issued today by the crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture, which estimates that the condition of the cotton crop on July 25th was 76.5-10 per cent. of a normal, as compared with 84.1-10 on July 25, 1911.
